in this girl it is particularly manifested in the area of development of her identity, which is an issue of the elements of the third row of the periodic table.

The procedure is controversial, since it screens embryos for lethal genetic disorders, then only uses the healthy embryos for implantation.